eral conference by Lord Curzon, the foreign secretary this morning. Ambassador Harvey and Lord Curzon agreed to the terms at an hour's conference in the foreign office yesterday.

The attorney in his statement this morning declared that it was unlikely that the four warrants brought against the Danville Warehouse Corporation and the Piedmont Warehouse Corporation would be heard in the Police Court on any Saturday. He pointed to the terms of the injunctions which restrain the local city and state officials "from instituting proceedings with criminal prosecution against complainants unless the same shall be referred to the aid of the General Assembly; and he did not see how the commonwealth's attorney could proceed next Saturday, nor Mayor Wooding, the presiding magistrate of the Police Court, who said the warrants would be tried, as he would not be tried, at a Police Court, and that the "c-o-u-r-t" through counsel will attack the legality of the injunctions. Mayor Wooding in reiterating his views today expressed the personal opinion that the enforcement of the Virginia Statute cannot be so suspended as to allow the Police Court to issue a court decree and more than that, which has been questioned, nor any other law on the statute books. Interest in the court proceedings has a lively topic of debate in tobacco circles, and it is expected to continue today. Some professed to see in the successful application for a restraining orders a shrewd move by the warehousemen. Were the restraining orders to hold good for ninety days, it would mean that they could not be removed from the warehouse without let or hindrance and for the balance of ninety days or by Janu-

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Elihu H. K. chairman of the U. S. Steel corporation, today emphatically but curiously denied any implied disrepute to a young woman who last Friday arrested him in the street and tried to hand him a pamphlet in which financial leaders' salaries were compared with those of their clerks. The young woman, who represented the Union of Bookkeepers, stenographers and accountants, which is seeking to unionize the "white collar" workers of the financial district, had complained that Mr. Gary had ceremoniously brushed her aside. "I am not the slightest bit of what the young woman wanted," Mr. K. explained. "She startled me and put up my hand to ward her off. I thought she wanted to hand me a pamphlet. I certainly would have read it with interest. I have no desire to be discourteous at any time, especially to a woman."

Skyscrapers Shrink When Cold Weather Contracts Metals

(By The Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Towering steel structures in New York will be approximately one and a half inches shorter this winter than they were in August. The shrinkage of the skyscrapers will not be noticeable to Gothamites, nor to the residents of other cities where the change already is taking place, but to the structural and technical engineers of steel the fact will be known in figures.

A study made by the building planning service of the National Association of Building Owners and Managers, covering thermal effects upon buildings, made public here, shows that the Woolworth Building, the Metropolitan Tower and the Equitable Building, among New York's highest structures, will have been shortened from one and two-tenths to one and a half inches.

The figures were arrived at by calculating the expansion and contraction of steel according to the formula familiar in every physics laboratory. The construction and expansion of steel for each Fahrenheit degree change in temperature is only .0000067 inches, but when this figure is multiplied by 91.10 inches in the Woolworth building (not counting the basement and sub-basements) it is shown that each degree change makes a difference of .061 inches in the structure. With the Metropolitan building's 8400 inches, each degree change makes a difference of .538 inches and with the 7200 inches in the Equitable building (counting from the sub-basements to the roof) the difference for each degree of change is .487 inches.

According to the estimate of Clarence T. Coley, operating manager of the Equitable Building and former president of the National Association of Building Owners and Managers, the probable limit of temperature change is about 25 degrees.

"Because of the expanding and contracting of the steel in high buildings it is important that the mass of the building be kept as near a uniform temperature as possible, to prevent steel from contracting and expanding within minimum limits," said Mr. Coley. "The limits are probably 85 degrees on the hottest summer day and 68 degrees on a cold winter's day, where the building is adequately heated."

"Should the buildings be allowed to cool off on Sundays and holidays to a temperature of 40 or 50 degrees it can be seen that the contraction would be much more marked and the bulging of plaster would be excessive. Generally it can be assumed that the temperature variation in the buildings is about 25 degrees. In a building such as the Equitable which is 600 feet from the roof to the sub-basement, the expansion between 60 and 85 degrees would be followed by the brick work, plaster, verticle piping, elevator guide rails, etc."

If the buildings should ever be allowed to cool to the freezing point the contraction of the Woolworth Building would be 3.2 inches; the Metropolitan Building would shorten

Movie Stars Plan Libel Suit; Means Court Fight To Stop Malicious Stories

(By The Associated Press.)

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 31.—A court battle to stop malicious and unfounded stories about men and women in the motion picture industry is expected to be started in New York today as the result of instructions Mary Pickford, motion picture actress, and her actor husband, Douglas Fairbanks, last night announced they had telegraphed to attorneys in that city.

The eastern attorneys, they said, were ordered to begin suit immediately against a film magazine which is alleged to have published a report that Evelyn Brent, Mr. Fairbanks' former leading lady, had caused the death of Miss Pickford and her husband.

Mr. Fairbanks joined with Mr. and

MARY PICKFORD

Ms. Fairbanks in denouncing the alleged libelous article as "ridiculously untrue" and her husband, E. P. Fineman, confirmed the Fairbanks' announcement that she would join with them in the bringing of the suit.

"That was a nasty story, an unjust story," was the way Mary Pickford characterized the article on which the proposed libel suit was to be based. "We are bringing this suit to protect not only ourselves but all others who are attacked by such stories."

three inches and the Equitable Building would be 2.5 inches shorter than the normal height in mid-summer, the statistics reveal.

Week-End Grid Tussels Decide Big Ten Champs

By WALTER ECKERSALL

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—While there was little change in the western championship situation as a result of Saturday's games, it is now a foregone conclusion that the week-end struggles between Chicago and Illinois at Urbana and Michigan and Iowa on the latter's gridiron will just about determine the big ten championship.

Although Illinois won over Northwestern 20 to 0, the game afforded Coach Zuppke an excellent opportunity to try out a number of his second string players. In some cases the substitutes performed better than expected while in others the players failed to make impressions upon the coach. The game also showed that Harold Grange is the main cog in the offense and if this sterling player is injured early in the game, and big bluff will be at quite a disadvantage. Earl Britton, however, is being counted on to take some of the burden of the star halfback, and he can stand more of the wear and tear of the game than Grange.

Coming from behind to win over the fighting Purdue eleven, Chicago was partially compensated for football fans it has a punch, something sadly lacking in former games. There is little question but what Stagg is developing a powerful attack, one which will be turned loose on all cylinders on the week end. Not only was the close attack used to good advantage, but the "hot half" the Maroons cut loose with overhead plays which may cause Illinois some trouble to stop.

As a result of the way Chicago and Illinois have developed, the situation could not have been better planned for such an occasion as will take place at Urbana on Saturday.

That Michigan must play its best football to win from Iowa was shown conclusively by the Hawkeyes' decisive victory over Ohio State. Iowa won 20 to 0 and its superiority was demonstrated in practically every department. The team played much better football than it did against Illinois and a more marked improvement will be shown this week. It will be a most crucial battle for the Wolverines whose chances of winning the title or going into tie for the honors will hinge upon the result.

Smart football should feature the two games. In fact it is the alert players who are turning the tides of the evenly fought contests and the teams which take advantage of everything in these two most important conference battles may be decided by Referring to the supposed rumors own pictures."

Fairbanks described rumors of a separation as about what one might expect from those "who have been talking about me for years." He added that his acquaintance with Evelyn Brent was "a separation from Mr. Fairbanks was eminent." Mary Pickford cited the fact that her husband "follows along whenever I go on location, even if he has to stop work on his lyn Brent was purely professional, and that he "never talked with her more than 20 minutes at a time."

His statements were confirmed by Evelyn Brent, who said: "The only relation I have had with Mr. Fairbanks were business relations. Since leaving this studio I have seen him only twice."

She left the Fairbanks studio, she added, because he felt that new productions contemplated there offered her no suitable role and for no other reason.

"The malicious stories that Miss Brent caused differences between myself and Mr. Fairbanks are extremely unfair to her," Mary Pickford said. "I think she is a beautiful girl and I love to see beautiful women in Mr. Fairbanks' pictures. They are flowers and other beautiful things. I helped select Miss Brent for the picture in which she appeared with my husband. I am always looking over chorus girls and women for him."

"Why," she added, "Douglas and I have never been separated one night since we have been married and we don't intend to be."

"Mental perverts have been talking about me for years," Fairbanks said. "As a matter of fact Mary and I never were so happy in our lives."

the alertness of some players who are on top of the ball at all times and overlook no opportunities to take advantage of the slightest error on the part of an opponent.

Minnesota and Wisconsin engaged in another of their annual interesting battles and when the final whistle blew neither eleven had scored. As a result of the game, neither is eliminated from the championship contender class and it will be up to some other eleven to put either out of the running.

Notre Dame has added another inter-sectional scalp to its collection by trouncing Georgia Tech 35 to 7. Coach Rockne's boys played in their usual aggressive manner and shortly after the game opened there was little doubt as to the superiority of the Hoosiers. The Notre Dame mentor is deserving of credit for keeping his men in the mental state so necessary to win football games. There may be some reaction at any time, but Rockne is fortunate enough to have enough material to replace any player who does not play the game to his liking.

In the Missouri Valley conference, the situation is becoming more complicated with the playing of every game. Last Saturday, Nebraska and Missouri battled to a 7 to 7 tie, while Kansas and Kansas Aggies left the field after neither had been able to score. Ames and Drake won their games decisively and an interesting game should result on Saturday when these two eleven meet at Des Moines in the home coming doings of Drake.

Detroit lost a hard fought inter-sectional struggle to W. and J. six to nothing and Marquette defeated Boston College 7 to 6 after a great struggle. Oberlin won a commendable victory over Amherst, 14 to 7, while Butler was the victor over Washburn, 2 to 0, the result of a safety scored early in the game.

In the east, Dartmouth's impressive victory over Harvard, 16 to 0, was about the biggest surprise. The Harvard eleven was accorded a good chance to win but the decisive win was a surprise to even the most loyal supporters of the New Hampshire team. As a result of this encounter, a great struggle will take place on Saturday at Hanover where Dartmouth and Cornell will clash in a game which means so much to both teams.

Penn State and West Virginia, two undefeated eleven of the Atlantic seaboard, engaged in a thrilling combat which ended with each team scoring 13 points. Surprised, Princeton had a battle which ended in a 2 to 2 score while Carnegie Tech, coached by Walter Steffen, won a great game from Pittsburgh 7 to 2.

GRAND MASTERS MAY ORGANIZE SUPREME LODGE

Masonic Heads in Washington to Attend Ceremonies at Alexandria

(By The Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—The Masonic grand masters of the several states will assemble here tomorrow in general conference for the first time in history to discuss matters that may later result in the formation of a national supreme grand lodge of master Masons.

The grand masters are here to attend the ceremonies in Alexandria, Virginia, Thursday at the consecration of the George Washington memorial temple. They will meet tomorrow at the invitation of Dr. Mack P. Binley, grand master of the District of Columbia.

At present, the grand lodge of each state is supreme in its own jurisdiction. The formation of a national organization for "Rite Lodge Masons" has been informally discussed for years and the presence of all the grand masters in Washington prompted the invitation for general conference.

Breakfast At Country Club

Miss Marie Penn was again honored yesterday morning when Mrs. George Penn gave a breakfast for twelve at the country club. The small dining room of the club never looked prettier than it appeared in decoration of white chrysanthemums and fern. A handsome centerpiece of white and green, bride-plate-cards, and small white satin boxes and slippers filled with dainty candies made a perfect setting for a bride-elect and her bridesmaids.

Those of the party were Misses Marie Penn, Lucille Glenn, Evelyn Penn, Sarah Watt, Mazie Williams, Virginia Overby, Cassandra and Kate Rucker, Margaret Richardson, Helen Penn, Elizabeth Penn and Mrs. Richard Harris.

Bridge-Party.
Miss Virginia Overby entertained at six tables of bridge Tuesday afternoon, at her home on Main Street. In honor of Miss Marie Penn and Mrs. Richard Harris, of Lynchburg, who is here to attend the wedding and will be the guest of Miss Overby this week.

The large rooms were handsomely decorated in green and white appropriate to the nuptial occasion. Miss Overby's guests were: Misses Marie Penn, Evelyn Penn, Sarah Watt, Margaret Richardson, Lucille Glenn, Cassandra and Kate Rucker, Jenny Lind Bass, Elizabeth Penn, Annie James, Florence Penn, Katherine Hines, Helen Penn, Margaret Jordan, Eleanor Guernsey, Mary Temple, Sue Brown, Bessie Van Wag, Madames Charles Jordan, Ralph P. Baker, Richard Harris, Miss Marian Boatwright won top-score prize, a beautiful towel. Dainty gifts were given to the guests of honor. After the game a salad course was served.

Mrs. W. R. Toomey who has been visiting here at Somerset, Ky., for several weeks, has gone to Cincinnati, Ohio, where she will be the guest of Mrs. Anna B. Burch for a short time before returning to Danville.

Mr. and Mrs. Holmes Penn, of Greensboro, N. C., Harry Penn and sons, Vaughn and Green Penn, of Madison, N. C., and Amos Cummings of Oak Ridge, N. C., who are here to attend the Watt-Penn wedding Thursday, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Penn.

Danville Violinists Play at South Boston

The Methodist church of South Boston was crowded to overflowing last Sunday evening, when in addition to the regular service, a fine musical program was rendered by Miss Margaret Tuggle, pianist, Joe Lee, cellist, and Richard Penn, violinist, of Danville. The three talented young musicians are well known to Danville people, who have had the privilege of hearing them in the delightful rendition of church music.

Postponed Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of Ann Eliza Johns Chapter U. D. C. will not be held the first Thursday of the month having been postponed on account of other important meetings being held at that time.

Callands to Have Concert

On Friday night, this week there is to be a concert at Callands High school, given for the benefit of the music department of the school. Danville musicians, Mr. John Westbrook, Mr. Richard Penn, and Mr. Basil Browder will take part and Mr. Sam Sours, concert pianist of Chatham will also contribute to the program. Many Danville people will attend this concert as it is to be a musical event of unusual interest.

Callands high school is one of the fine schools of the country, where we are all proud of it. It deserves the pride and support of the whole community. These musicians are known to be highly capable, having appeared before large audiences in Danville and elsewhere.

Danville Musicians in South Boston
Richard Penn went over to South Boston Sunday evening to assist Miss Margaret Tuggle, pianist, and Joe Lee, cellist, in giving a special musical program at South Boston Methodist church.

The church was crowded to hear these talented young musicians and the performance received generous applause. All three are well known in Danville.

Services Thursday Night at Hill-Top

The usual Tuesday night prayer and song service was postponed until Thursday night. Dr. J. M. Shelburne will conduct the service this week on Thursday evening, 7:30 o'clock.

Price-Gilley

A quiet marriage was solemnized at the residence of Rev. J. Clyde Holland on North Main street yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock when Miss Edith Gilley, of Reidsville, N. C., became the bride of George G. Price. The ceremony was witnessed by several of their friends. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Gilley. The groom is a mechanic. Those witnessing the ceremony were R. A. Black, M. C. Stroud, J. H. Gilley and Miss Ola Gilley. Immediately following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Gilley returned to North Carolina.

Mrs. Gideon Honored

One of the most delightful entertainments of the season was given at the golf club Tuesday afternoon when Mrs. E. B. Young entertained at fifteen tables of bridge in honor of her guests, Mrs. A. G. Gideon, of California, and Mrs. K. R. Thompson, of Reidsville, N. C., who with their hostess, received the guests. The living room was decorated in autumn leaves and brilliant flowers. Punch was served during the game and following the game a salad course was served. Other friends called in the late afternoon.

Mission Study Class

The old-day Mission Study Class, held by the members of Main-Street Church Missionary Societies, yesterday was a great success from the standpoint of interest and number attending.

Mrs. S. J. Babin, of Danville District, conducted the meeting. Members of the class who had previously been assigned certain parts of the book, "Creative Forces in Japan," responded splendidly. Lunch was served at 1 o'clock, p. m., and a short class period was followed. At 3 o'clock the meeting adjourned, feeling repaid for the time spent in study.

Rotary Club Supper

The Danville Rotary Club held ladies' night meeting at the Country Club, Thursday evening, and at the conclusion of the program it was the general opinion that it was the best "ladies' night" ever held by the Club. The ladies' committees had done splendid work in decoration and cuisine and a good deal of the credit of the success is due to their efforts.

The program was in charge of C. G. Holland and H. B. Watkins, ably assisted by the talent in the club and by some first-class outside assistance and Miss Adams and Miss Gannon of Averett College, Mrs. Margaret and Miss Martha Frank of Schoolfield Welfare Department, and the Virginia Orchestra from Schoolfield, added a great deal to the program furnished excellent readings and music.

The night of the program, procedures were halted while recognition was made of the faithful and efficient service rendered to the Rotary Club by John E. Overby. A deserved tribute was paid to his work by Joe Dunsmuir and Rick Boatwright, after which John was presented with a diamond and Ruby button and a handsome silver box.

Many laudable hits were made during the evening at the various members of the club, and the evening closed with a superb Halloween stunt. A spooky show was arranged by the one owner and from the shadows of which departed spirits fled on various members of the club, cautioning them to beware of how they were treating the following. George Robertson took the part of "medium" and served very cleverly, while the use of departed spirits was played by Dr. Julian Robinson and Guy Holland.

The entertainment carried over to the Halloween party. The entertainers were in Halloween costumes, the members and their friends wore Halloween caps and bonnets, and the favors blended into the general scheme.

Halloween At Averett College.
A Halloween party was given at Averett College Saturday evening, October 27th, by the Philo-mathian and Mnemosynean Literary Societies.

Those receiving were: Mnemosynean—Miss Betty Holmes, Chavigney Clarke, Miss Ray Land, Philomathians—Misses Pearl Westmore, Catherine Lohr and Elizabeth H.

There were a large number of guests, who after being led through dark and mysterious passages, where various forms of spirits greeted them effusively in natural, ghostlike manner, were conducted to the new "kym," where Halloween colors and novelties floated in gay array, around the candle-light room. The grand march was the outstanding feature of the evening, and was led by the presidents of the two societies.

The costumes were varied, original and beautiful, and Lydia Gwynne received honorable mention for her distinctively unique dress. Miss Betty Holmes was awarded the prize for "best dressed girl," and Charlie Lee for the best dressed boy. Madam Sana, Cass L. E. Miss Mary Thompson and Madame Nerran L. E. Saxon Rowe, read the hands of all present. Dainty refreshments were served throughout the evening and the affair was all present a tremendous success by all present.

Halloween at Hill Top

Miss Helen Koss, superintendent, the nurses, and all the folks at Hill-Top entertained their friends last night at a Halloween party. All the features of the season were carried out to perfection. The long hall was decorated in yellow with lantern-lights hung from the ceiling, and the living-rooms were gay with chrysanthemum, richly colorful flowers and soft shaded lights. The central point from which radiated all the fun and frolic was the dining-room where from the central chandelier hung gay ribbons of alternating yellow and black reaching to all corners of the large room. The table was laden with pumpkins, fruits and delicacies of the season.

A fortune-teller dispensed weird wisdom from a cornstalk-booth in the corner. Both the homebodies and guests wore masks and fantastic costumes, impersonating many characters.

There were Indians, Vamps, Black Mammy and a Mrs. W. S., who enveloped the company with their original wit.

The music was fine, a stethoscope quartet and orchestra gave many familiar vocal and instrumental selections.

During the evening refreshments were served, such as cider and doughnuts, chestnuts and gingerbread, along with many attractive novelties of the very variety of acts and witches and fortune telling devices.

While all the decorating and preparations for the party was the work of the Hill-Top family, they were greatly assisted by contributions of flowers and favors sent in by their friends, who heard of their plans to have a party.

In spite of the rain and dreariness outside there has never before been so much gaiety and brightness within the walls of Hill-Top.

The prizes for costumes character costumes were awarded to Miss Drewry York, best costume; Miss Elsie Brooks, best costume; Miss W. W. Harrison, best costume; Sherman Hargrove, flapper costume; Miss Sophia Yates, old-fashioned lady; Charles Holt, best comedian.

The costume worn by Miss Yates was particularly attractive and interesting as a near-century old hoisoom belonging to the wearer's family.

About 200 people were present.

—Mrs. J. R. Jopling, has gone to Oak-Hill where she will spend the Winter with her daughter, Mrs. Samuels.

Danger Of Crisis In Saxony Now Less Imminent

(By The Associated Press.)
BERLIN, Oct. 31.—With the situation in Saxony gradually becoming stabilized and the united committee of the government there, political circles in Berlin expressed belief today that the danger of a preliminary crisis here was less imminent.

In response to critics at home and abroad who have questioned the concentration of large German forces in Saxony, and suggested that army maneuvers were intended, the government has issued an official statement asserting that the concentration is in no wise contrary to the treaty of Versailles and that it plans neither maneuvers nor a military expedition.

The troops have been sent into Saxony, says the statement, only to secure the proper policing of the state and, more especially, to break up the armed "Selbst-Schutz" organizations, the existence of which cannot, in the opinion of allied military commission be tolerated.

Saxon-Diet Elects Fellisch Premier

(By The Associated Press.)
DRESDEN, Saxony, Oct. 31.—The Saxon diet early today elected Dr. A. Fellisch as premier, by a vote of 46 to 31. Seventy-one deputies were present, but the German nationalists left the hall before the vote was taken. The communists cast no ballots. After the election the house adjourned until November 6.

Dr. Fellisch, a socialist, was minister of economics before the recently dissolved Saxon-Communist government was established.

The cabinet is composed entirely of socialists but the democrats undertook to support it.

TO REVIVE TOURNAMENT

With Gum As Protection, Brave Woman Faces Wild Men In Congo

MRS. DIANA STRICKLAND WHO IS GOING INTO DEEPEST AFRICA WITH CHEWING GUM.

By MILTON BRONNER
LONDON, Oct. 31.—American chewing gum may soon be the legal tender of the darkest Congo.

Just as Arctic explorers swapped gum drops for blubber, Mrs. Diana Strickland, society beauty, is game for an order for these from the New York zoo. Some animals will be shot and stuffed for natural history museums. But in the main, most of the shooting will be done with less deadly camera fire.

The expedition lands at Boma, on the west coast of Africa, and goes by rail and river to Kinsasha, a stretch of 250 miles. Then comes a trip of 250 miles up the Kasai river in a little sternwheeler—and finally 200 miles up the Sunkera river in dug-out canoes.

The whites, accompanied by 250 native bearers, will then wave a good-bye to civilization for a year—a year to be spent in the land of big forests, jagged mountains, wild tribes and wilder animals.

"And what do I get out of it?" asked Mrs. Strickland.

"Well," said she answering her own query after a period of thoughtfulness. "I will get away from London fog and rains. I'll get the thrill of exploring new country and shooting big game. There will be new tribes to be seen."

"Through my knowledge of Swahili, I will gather new stories, legends and myths. They will be material for a book to be written on my return. The movies we take are an other incentive—and finally, well finally, I will go to America and lecture all about it."

Nearly everybody does.

Birth Control Urged To Prevent Over-Crowded World In 200 Years

(By The Associated Press.)
CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—Professor E. Ross, of the University of Wisconsin last night told the middle western states birth control conference, in session here that a Harvard graduate has one average less than one son; a woman college graduate has about half a daughter; American families of moderate means average three children and parents who constantly appeal to charity for support have families averaging six children.

The birthrate among people who send their children to college is on the decline he said. Inquiries among 630 college women disclosed they were members of families averaging 2.15 children. He said that of 1,000 families five children and their grand parents of families averaging more than six children. Professor Ross said.

"One quarter of the population of the United States, due to many children as the remaining three quarters," declared Professor Ross. "In this quarter are the charity cases, the feeble minded and often the criminals. It is this fact that the least desirable are reproducing from two to three times as fast as the desirable three times as fast as the desirable that makes us fear for the safety of the world."

Birth control, he asserted, would help restore the balance. At the present rate will redouble in sixty years' time. "In 200 years there will be ten times the present population. Even if fed by a fall of heavenly manna, mankind would be so crowded that life would not be worth living."

"Curtailling of the family must come or pressure of numbers will wipe out all the ease, comfort and fineness in the world. Distress, the inevitable consequences of over-production," declared Professor Ross, of Harvard.

Guy A. Harris, Age 13, Died Early Today

Guy A. Harris, thirteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Harris died at the home of his parents on Hilltop Road, near the city this morning at 8 o'clock following an extended illness from the first of July. He first contracted typhoid fever which developed heart and kidney trouble. He was a child of exceptional intelligence, and lovable disposition and his death is not only a sorrow to his immediate family but to his many friends and relatives.

Besides his parents he is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Holland Allen, three brothers, Clyde, Frank and John B. Harris. The funeral services will be conducted from the home tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock, conducted by Rev. J. Clyde Holland, assisted by F. A. Mickel. Interment will be in Lee-Avon cemetery.

NEGRO WILL RECOVER

(By The Associated Press.)
ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 31.—With five stitches in his heart, put there during a surgical operation several days ago by a local surgeon, Charles Jenkins, negro, has excellent chances for recovery, according to reports from a local hospital where the operation was performed.

ion may not be—one stick of chewing gum for ten rare butterflies.

But I mustn't give the impression that this is to be a frivolous tour of the jungleland. It is not at all. Mrs. Strickland, accompanied by four other whites, all of whom are experienced African travelers, has some very definite objects in view.

She is going to try to capture alive some of the giant forest hogs, having an order for these from the New York zoo. Some animals will be shot and stuffed for natural history museums. But in the main, most of the shooting will be done with less deadly camera fire.

The expedition lands at Boma, on the west coast of Africa, and goes by rail and river to Kinsasha, a stretch of 250 miles. Then comes a trip of 250 miles up the Kasai river in a little sternwheeler—and finally 200 miles up the Sunkera river in dug-out canoes.

"And what do I get out of it?" asked Mrs. Strickland.

"Well," said she answering her own query after a period of thoughtfulness. "I will get away from London fog and rains. I'll get the thrill of exploring new country and shooting big game. There will be new tribes to be seen."

Waste Paper Men Take Action Against the Salvation Army

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Dissolution of the Salvation Army on the ground that it is engaged unlawfully in the waste paper business was sought at a hearing yesterday before Deputy Attorney General John J. Dwyer, by commercial waste paper dealers.

They charged that the Salvation Army through cheap labor recruited from the ranks of unfortunates for whom it cares, was over bidding them in buying waste paper and under bidding them in selling it.

The attorney general was asked to institute an action to vacate the charter of the organization, because "in conducting a waste paper business, it violated the provisions of the law under which it was created and abused the privileges conferred upon it as a religious and charitable agency."

GOOD HEALTH SECRET OF BEAUTY.

Beauty lies in the care a woman bestows upon herself and in keeping at bay those dread ailments peculiar to her sex, which drag her down and leave telltale traces upon her countenance. Sparkling eyes, the elastic step and a clear complexion never acquired by the use of cosmetics, are the company organic troubles. Distressed expression, a sallow complexion, dark circles under the eyes, lassitude, headaches, and mental depression are the telltale symptoms of women's ailments. Women so troubled should not lose a day in waiting Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, the most successful remedy known to overcome a woman's ills and restore health and beauty.—adv.

The Tangle

An Intimate Story of Innermost Emotions Revealed in Private Letters.

I expect, little Marquise, that most women would have been consumed with curiosity about what that advice was Syd had given Jack which would have saved him a lot of trouble before and after we were married. I never referred to it.

I have always felt I had no right to inquire into John's life and affairs before our marriage even if those affairs precipitated some consequences that might in some way change the complexion of our married life. I wonder if I am wrong!

Were you curious, little Marquise, were you jealous? Is it a sign of love or vanity that makes one person jealous of another? It had always seemed to me that it was a sign of an inferiority, a confession that one believed the person of whom one was jealous cleverer or more beautiful than oneself. Of course a curiosity about John's actions before he knew me would not argue superiority or inferiority on my part and I was quite sure that since our marriage, whatever faults John may have shown, he had never had the slightest interest in any other woman.

"I want you to look your prettiest," he continued quickly, after making that break about taking Syd's advice. "You are looking a little pale lately, honey. Why don't you use some of that new rouge the girls are all wearing nowadays?"

I laughed outright, little Marquise, at the idea that, while I was saying to myself he never had the slightest interest in any other woman, he had been interested in all women enough to see that most of them were using rouge on their cheeks nowadays.

"What are you laughing at, dear," he said in a hurt voice.

I couldn't tell him so I took refuge in another half question. "Surely, Jack, you wouldn't want me to lose my sense of humor, would you?"

"Certainly not," he asserted, his thought immediately diverting from his own question. "You know, Leslie, before we were married I rather had an idea that no woman had a sense of humor and I tell you that was one of the reasons I was afraid to ask a girl to marry me. I thought she took herself seriously all the time. That I should either knock her down weekly or be bored to death daily."

"It would probably be the latter," Jack, I rejoined. "I can conceive of you being bored but never being a brute."

As I said this Jack's arms were about me, his lips were pressed close to my ear. Everything in the world except our mutual love had gone out of my mind. Oh, little Marquise, there are some things for which you should envy me for although your lover was a king, he was only your lover and there are times in every wife's life when a certain oneness, a certain dependency, a certain stableness is added to the thrill of love giving it that bliss which cannot be described but which makes a heaven here on earth. To be a man's wife is much the best thing that can come to a woman after all.

This was one of the great moments and for fear I would shoot too much emotion, which I knew Jack did not like, I said, "I'll go away and dress now."

"Yes, do dear, I want to make old Syd envious."

Did your kingly lover ever say anything as nice as that to you?

TOMORROW: Leslie goes on with the letter—Radiant with joy.

Four Of Speediest Horses Race Sat.

(By The Associated Press.)
CINCINNATI, Oct. 31.—Indications today were that a field of four of the country's speediest three-year-olds would face the barrier in the Latonia championship to be run at Latonia, Kentucky, on Saturday.

My Own, Admiral Cary T. Grayson's candidate, was due to arrive at the Milldale course today and Rialto was expected in tomorrow to carry the Greentree colors in the $50,000 classic. The Rancocas star, Zev, will remain in New York another day to run in the Autumn championship at Empire City and may not reach Latonia until Friday.

In memoriam, Carl Weldmann's Illinois derby winner, which is the only hope of the Western contingent, was given a mild workout yesterday over the muddy track prevailing at Latonia and pronounced to be in excellent form. The western colt is not without supporters, many of whom believe the eastern cracks will find him a hard horse to trim over the distance of a mile and six furlongs.

LIGHTS WILL WARN OF COMING STORMS

(By The Associated Press.)
STOCKHOLM, Oct. 31.—Sweden is about to equip its shores with a novelty in the way of storm warnings, pillars of fire readily visible at night from the sea to tell mariners of approaching storms. Strategic points on both the east and west coasts will be selected for the lights, and the new service will be particularly valuable to vessels not provided with radio.

HEARTBURN MADE LIFE A BURDEN

But Paw Paw Tonic Soon Brought Rest and Strength to Woman Ill for Years

"I had quite bad trouble with gas in the stomach and bloating," writes Mrs. Rebecca Ziegler, of Bernharts, Berks County, Pa. "No matter what I ate, it soured in my stomach and caused heartburn so bad that life was a burden to me. I had liver trouble very badly and could not sleep nights. I have doctored with physicians for five or six years, but none of them seemed to bring me relief."

"But I began taking Paw Paw Tonic. Now I can sleep nights. I have more ambition and strength. My food digests and my liver trouble is going. I would be very glad to recommend Munyon's Paw Paw Tonic to anyone suffering the way I was. I believe it is very good for run-down conditions."

If you are a sufferer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach trouble; if you are continually upset from nervousness, buy a bottle of Munyon's Paw Paw Tonic at once—and just FEEL yourself improving! It costs $1 a bottle and can be bought at all first-class drug stores.

INTEREST IN COMMUNITY CHEST DRIVE GROWS AS DATE DRAWS NEAR

Testimonials of the soundness of the Community Chest plan continue to be received at Chest headquarters in the Holland building from prominent citizens. Jesse R. Benton, publicity chairman, today made public the following letter from H. R. Fitzgerald, industrialist and community worker, lauding the plan. His letter follows:

"October 13, 1923.
"To the Publicity Committee of the Community Chest,
"Danville, Va.
"Gentlemen:

"A our first year's experience with the Community Chest draws to a close, permit me to say that I have been deeply gratified at the results, which not only mean that all of the worthy institutions embraced in its budget have been provided for in a more punctual and business-like manner than ever before and the community has been saved the annoyance of frequent financial campaigns, but in addition to this, I do not think there has ever been a finer expression of community spirit than this movement involves.

"Instead of, as some erroneously supposed, calling for a larger sum than was required under the old methods it has proved a real step in economy, and in addition to removing the distasteful practice of almost continuous drives and campaigns the plan of the Community Chest is a great protection and undoubtedly renders more effective support to those worthy institutions than could otherwise be had.

"Therefore, I am glad that your executive committee is planning to put on their next campaign during the week of November 6th to 14th, inclusive, and am confident that every loyal citizen of our community will take genuine pleasure in contributing their fair share toward making it the splendid success that was achieved during the past year.

"With assurance of my hearty cooperation and kindest personal regards, I beg to remain,
"Yours very truly,
"H. R. FITZGERALD."

Promoters of the Community Chest campaign which will open next week reported today growing interest in the outcome of the drive on the part of those who have offered their time and services in making the undertaking a success. More interest has been displayed by the leaders at this stage of the work than was in evidence last year and it has been taken as an encouraging sign. Announcement was made this morning of the personnel of the women's teams who will play an important part in canvassing the city. The teams and their captains are as follows:

Team No. 1—Mrs. E. N. Z. Ellis, captain; Mrs. C. G. Evans, Mrs. John Boatwright, Mrs. Barnett Lea, Mrs. E. Jennings, Mrs. W. D. Overby, Mrs. Kate Irvin, Miss Ruby Howard, Miss Laura Holland and Miss Elizabeth Martin.

Team No. 2—Mrs. C. C. Johnson, captain; Mrs. H. L. Boatwright, Mrs. J. C. Jordan, Mrs. E. T. Estes, Mrs. O. P. Estes, Mrs. A. T. Gunn, Mrs. George Penn, Mrs. B. W. Jordan, Mrs. A. M. Henderson, Mrs. J. M. Seegar and Mrs. Edwin Meade.

Team No. 3—Mrs. J. M. Robinson, captain; Mrs. G. G. Temple, Mrs. Otis Bradley, Mrs. A. C. Conway, Mrs. W. T. Gravelly, Mrs. J. T. Catlin, Jr., Mrs. C. G. Holland, Mrs. E. H. Miller, Mrs. T. A. Foughton and Mrs. J. M. Edwards.

Team No. 4—Miss Mary Ruffin, captain; Mrs. George Friend, Mrs. A. E. Carrington, Jr., Mrs. Glen Updike, Mrs. R. L. Peerman, Mrs. E. B. Young, Mrs. Marion Beaver, Miss Beesie Glasgow, Miss Lavinia Reeves and Miss Sarah Harrison.

CADET PLUNGES TO HIS DEATH

(By The Associated Press.)
AANAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 30.—Theodore Roosevelt Dotseler, midshipman, second class, whose home was New York City, plunged four stories to his death from a wing of the Cadet Hall, the dormitory building at the Naval Academy this afternoon.

Dotseler's room was on the "fourth deck" of the building. He had been wandering around in the attic, according to the authorities, and plunged through the thin plastered ceiling.

PRESERVED FRUIT PRICES DROP DURING TRADE WAR OF CANNERS

SYDNEY, N. S. Oct. 31.—A trade war between the Australian fruit pool controllers and the canners of California has resulted in reduced prices for preserved fruits, notably peaches, in New South Wales, New Zealand and Java. A publicity campaign here also has caused increased demand, and it is estimated that there will be little difficulty in handling next year's crop if three-quarters of the fruit is eaten at home.

British Modification Will Strengthen Power Of U. S. In Fighting Rum Runners

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—British modification of the Versailles treaty proposal for a treaty agreement permitting search of foreign vessels for contraband liquor beyond the three mile limit are expected to be acceptable to the Washington government, since they place an even stronger weather position against rum runners in the hands of America's prohibition enforcement officials than this government officials had expected to be able to obtain.

Under the modified plan as described in news dispatches from London, search of British vessels for contraband liquor would be permitted for an indefinite distance off shore, obviating the setting up for this purpose of the arbitrary twelve mile zone suggested by Mr. Hughes.

Presumably the distance to which American officials would prosecute the search right permitted would be governed by the circumstances in each case. In any event it is believed here that under the British plan "rum row" on the Atlantic coast, could disappear, as vessels loaded with liquor intended to be smuggled into the United States would have no zone of safety anywhere off shore.

McCormick Tells What Will Bring Prosperity in U. S.

Good Morning Judge!

The case of L. H. Self for operating a car without proper license tags was continued.

Princess Hermine's Injury Not Serious

(By The Associated Press.)
DOORN, Holland, Oct. 31.—The injury to Princess Hermine's ear caused by a stone that struck her while she was walking near Doorn castle is painful but not serious. The culprit has not been found but an eyewitness of the incident believes that the stone was accidentally slung from a sling with which he saw a boy playing. The Doorn authorities refuse to discuss the affair.

WHAT IT TAKES IN FOODSTUFFS TO PRODUCE A POUND OF MEAT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—The quantity of foodstuff to produce a pound of meat has been the subject of study of experts of the Department of Agriculture. They find it takes about six pounds of grain and six pounds of hay to produce a pound of lamb (live weight), 10 pounds of corn to make a pound of beef, and 5.5 pounds of corn to produce a pound of pork.

Better Conditions Will Come With Development Of Pan-American Markets and Checking Increasing Taxes and Indebtedness.

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—The greatest assurance of a restored and enduring prosperity for the American citizen, in the opinion of Senator McCormick, Republican, Illinois, lies in the development of Pan-American markets and in checking the appalling increase in the taxes and indebtedness of the states and local taxing bodies.

Declaring in a statement today that "we must realize that at best with the present obstacles to European economic regeneration, the establishment of European markets will be a long and difficult task," the senator said he wished the United States "might develop the field of Pan-American investment and the Pan-American export market with half the intelligence and energy devoted to the consideration of the plight of Europe."

"I wish that we might devote half the energy and intelligence," he continued, to checking the increase in local taxation that we do to the problem of taxation. I wish that the president might despatch to Latin America a commission of farmers, manufacturers and bankers to develop new fields for investments and new fields for export. I wish he might call together authorities for responsible for taxation and expenditures in municipal and states in order that the states and local taxing bodies might emulate the national government in retrenchment."

Commenting on the European situation, Senator McCormick, who was "irreconcilable" in the Versailles treaty fight, and who, in a statement Monday denounced Premier Poincare for his attitude toward the reparations question, declared that "if anything important is to be accomplished there ought to be a revision of certain economic clauses of the treaty of Versailles and that seems impossible without an election in France."

Conference Will Adopt Report

(By The Associated Press.)
LONDON, Oct. 30.—It is expected that the imperial conference tomorrow or Thursday, will adopt all the recommendations of the expert committee, the chairman of which is Lord Curzon, the foreign secretary, who has been studying the proposals of Charles E. Hughes, the American secretary of state for search for and seizure of contraband liquor outside American territorial waters. Shortly after the adoption of the recommendations of the committee, a formal treaty will be drawn up between the British and American governments which will empower the American authorities, on the one hand, to detail and examine British-owned ships suspected of rum running and on the other hand guarantee reciprocal rights to British vessels to take into American ports under seal legitimate liquor stores on passenger liners intended for consumption on the home-bound voyage of such vessels.

George Harvey, the American ambassador, who had a long talk with Lord Curzon at the foreign office today learned it was the intention of the British not to limit the right of search and seizure strictly to 12 mile limit, but to leave the question of distance open.

Probe Still Centers Around Purchase Of Calif. Hospital

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Purchase of a site for the tuberculosis hospital at Livermore, California, formed the subject matter of inquiry today by the Senate committee investigating the Veterans Bureau. Charges of a rather startling character regarding this transaction already have been made before the committee but even more sensational developments are forecast by those in charge of the investigation.

The inquiry is directed along two lines: the actual purchase itself and the employment of Matthew O'Brien, a San Francisco architect, to prepare plans for the hospital which subsequently were rejected, but for which, according to the evidence, O'Brien received $64,000. The evidence thus far is that O'Brien obtained for the Veterans Bureau an option on the Livermore site, which was not exercised, and also that he is the only architect outside the government service to be employed to prepare plans for a bureau hospital.

There is in the committee record a report from A. E. Graupner, of San Francisco, chairman of the district rehabilitation committee of the American Legion that charges were made directly to Charles E. Forbes, the director of the bureau, that the purchase of the Livermore site was "surrounded by graft." This charge was made by a committee of the legion to Forbes in San Francisco on June 18, 1922, according to the Graupner report.

Before taking up the Livermore purchase, the committee planned to clean up some odds and ends in connection with its inquiry into the purchase of the hospital site at Excelsior Springs, Missouri, from E. L. Morse, prominent in Republican politics in Missouri. Investigation into the essential facts of this transaction was concluded yesterday.

Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, chairman of the committee, directed Major General O'Ryan, general counsel, to notify Ewing La Porte, former assistant secretary of the treasury, that he would be given opportunity to appear before the committee if he desired. It has been charged that Mr. La Porte rushed through against recommendations from medical and legal officers of the Public Health Service, an agreement for the lease of the Excelsior Springs plant.

Pinchot's Criticism of Dry Enforcement Occupies Attention

(By The Associated Press.)
HARRISBURG, Oct. 31.—Governor Pinchot's criticisms of federal prohibition enforcement—expressed last night for the second time this week in a letter to Secretary of the Treasury, Mellon—occupied the attention of state and federal officials today.

In his second letter the governor termed Mr. Mellon's answer to his previous letter "a defense of things as they are" and declared what is needed "is not a defense of past and present evils, but a determination to debate them, followed by effective action." He asserted that "if the present situation represents the best the Treasury Department can do, then my previous suggestion that the enforcement service should be placed directly under the president had greater force than I suspected when I made it."

The suggestion to which he referred was voiced by him in a speech at the recent citizenship speech in Washington, in which he declared the federal government "lost its soul through politics" and urged the complete elimination of politics and direct control of enforcement by the president.

Much Danville Realty Is On Auction Block

A considerable amount of local property will be thrown upon the public auction market during the next ten days this being due to the fact that the estate of the late John E. Hughes is beginning to be wound up. It is estimated that property owned by Mr. Hughes valued at $100,000 both in the city and in nearby communities will come under the auction hammer. The terms will be cash and it has been intimated that the payment of bequests will be undertaken within a short while. Waddill Holland Company announced the sales which begin today and which will continue periodically during the next few days. This afternoon at two o'clock four frame dwellings and sixteen vacant lots owned by the late M. M. Hughes and lying between the Dry Bridge and D. M. I. will be sold by Morris Flinn. Tomorrow afternoon at four o'clock, a frame dwelling at 401 Linn street and a double brick tenement adjoining will be auctioned. Immediately after this sale, which is known as the old Cosby factory at the corner of Graghead and Newton Streets will be sold, as well as two stores adjoining, and a vacant lot.

On Saturday at eleven o'clock the E. T. Murphy farm of 340 acres on White Oak Mountain will be sold, also the E. L. Murphy farm of 94 acres on Sweden Fork Creek. Following this sale an acre of land and a dwelling thereon known as the O. C. and W. R. Dodd place will be auctioned. Four acres of land in that vicinity and a dwelling known as the O. R. Lanthicum place are to be sold on the same date.

What promises to be an interesting all-day sale will be held on November 15th, starting at 10:30 o'clock when 173 acres which belonged to Mr. Hughes, this property at Deddon on the Danville and Chatham road will be sold. This tract is to be divided into suburban residential lots and small farms. The Agnes L. Withers farm in that section is to be subdivided and sold.

Later on, other more valuable property in the business district of Danville and owned by Mr. Hughes will be sold at auction.

Another sale of real estate to be held at four o'clock this afternoon is the West Paxton street house and lot belonging to the estate of William H. West. On November 3rd, four houses at the corner of Union and Floyd streets constituting part of the old Linn estate are to be sold at auction.

Gravely Brothers have already announced the auction sale of the Jim Wilson building on Patton street below the courthouse this sale to be held November 16th.

Says Bodies Were in Lake Only 48 Hours

Mystery Surrounding Kidnaping Cases of Morehouse Parish Deepens By Statements of Physician Who Made Autopsy.

(By The Associated Press.)

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 31.—Mystery surrounding the Morehouse Parish kidnaping cases was deepened today by a story published in the Times Picayune in which Dr. Charles W. Duval, pathologist, who conducted autopsies on the two mutilated bodies taken from Lake La Fourche last December and identified as those of W. Daniel and T. F. Richard, who were kidnapped by a hooded band on August 24, 1922, on the Bastrop-Mer Rouge highway, was declared to have told the newspaper last night that the bodies could not have been in the water more than 48 hours, if that long.

Dr. Duval's statement, the newspaper stated, had been corroborated by Dr. John A. Lomford, pathologist, of Tulane University, who assisted Dr. Duval in performing the autopsies.

Governor Parker of Louisiana, repeatedly has stated that the Morehouse parish Ku Klux Klan was responsible for the kidnaping and alleged murder of Daniel and Richard, while members of the Morehouse Klan organization have charged that the bodies found in the lake were not those of the two Mer Rouge men but that they were "planted" there shortly discovered in order to fasten the crime upon the Klan. That the bodies were taken from a St. Louis medical school to Morehouse and placed in the lake has been charged by Captain J. K. Skipwith, exalted cyclops of the Parish Klan.

A search for the missing men was instituted immediately after their disappearance and four months later, Department of Justice agents and State troops were sent to Morehouse to assist the parish authorities in the search.

Many of those who have contended that the bodies identified as the missing men were "planted" in Lake La Fourche, have expressed the belief that the bodies were taken to the lake in two huge boxes shipped to Morehouse as part of the equipment of a diver who was employed to explore the bottom of the lake a few days before they were brought to the surface by a dynamite charge.

Governor Parker, when told of Dr. Duval's statement, declined to have anything to say, stating that he "knew nothing about it."

Attorney General Cocco, who had been in charge of the open hearing at Bastrop in masked band activities, had had no comment early today. Efforts to reach him were unsuccessful.

JOBS FOR ALL

There will be a job for every man who wants to work next winter, is the confident assertion of the director of the employment service of the United States department of labor. More than that, he believes that the next few months will be the best in years of peace so far as ready employment is concerned.

Such prophesy is gratifying and will refute the calamity howlers who are always particularly active in seasons of presidential campaigns.

In the readjustments through which we are now passing it has been unavoidable that there should be certain disarrangements of industry. But with continuance of a pronounced world shortage of many materials and manufactured articles it is inconceivable that stagnation could be either general or prolonged.

Undoubtedly one of the most disturbing factors in the situation is the problem of the price level. Until uncertainty is largely removed, business men will avoid large commitments, and as long as they feel inclined to pronounced conservation, resumption and expansion are certain to be somewhat retarded.

In discussing the commercial and industrial situation the man who dares to prophesy from day to day or from week to week flirts with discomfiture. But the man who prophesies for the "long pull" will, if he is a booster for America, not go far wrong. What must be remembered is that the United States is becoming more and more the center of the world's dependence, that our prosperity is just beginning, and that the achievements of the future are certain to outrival those of the past.

The man who puts his faith in America for "the long pull" can endure passing fluctuations with equanimity and confidence. America has a golden future so much greater than opportunities which have confronted nations in the past as to be beyond comparison. Whether it shall be grasped depends on American business men—and upon every American.

A PLEA FOR CO-OPERATION

Experiments soon to be undertaken in the business section of the city looking to the more efficient handling of the growing volume of motor borne traffic will require inducement on the part of the driver of such vehicles. Within a day or two Danville people will find an array of signs prohibiting entrance to certain streets from Main street and others from Patton street and there is coming to be some confusion. The city authorities will be greatly aided by the public generally if they will enter into the spirit of these experiments and give their cooperation in sounding out certain local traffic theories instead of forming "pet" theories or giving manifestations of irritation over the temporary restrictions. It should be remembered that the authorities who are embarking on the experiments are prompted solely by the thought of expediting traffic and eliminating congestion. It is not an arbitrary function. The Union street corner is becoming more and more congested and the testing of streets as one way thoroughfares is to be undertaken with a view to helping the pedestrian no less than the drivers of motor cars and wagons. Just as soon as the necessary signs have been prepared the changes will become effective. Car drivers especially should be on the alert for their cooperation will be of great assistance in determining whether or not the changes proposed shall be made permanent.

MR. FORD ACCUSES A CABINET MEMBER

Henry Ford has broken his long silence regarding the Muscle Shoals matter, by issuing a statement in which he charges Secretary of War, John W. Weeks and his friends with using their influence to keep the proposition from coming to a vote in Congress. He declares that the Ford Motor Company never needed Muscle Shoals and the only thing he could do there, better than elsewhere, would be to make fertilizer for the farmer, and this is what Mr. Weeks and his friends do not want done. Mr. Weeks has replied to the charges by saying that Mr. Ford does not know all the facts in the case, and that he is willing to submit the whole matter to a board of inquiry. The fact that Mr. Ford does not withdraw or amend his bid for the property furnishes a basis for reopening the whole subject in the next Congress, and astute political observers incline to the belief that one result of the controversy will be to strengthen a third party movement.

THE PENSION ROLL OF THE WAR

There may be people yet who think of war and peace as two separated periods; who believe that when war officially ends peace begins. The fact is, and it scarcely seems to need restating, that war drags its wounded carcass along through the period of peace for what seems an indefinite period.

Probably no clearer proof of this pertinacity of war is to be found than in the figures showing the number of former soldiers in the great war who are receiving pensions from their respective governments. The total for both sides reaches almost 8,000,000.

Some of them are partially useful, many of them have no further usefulness. Long after the cities have been rebuilt and the fields bloom again with crops, these men will survive as memorials of the price of service and as a necessary tax on the public. Germany has 1,537,000; France, 1,500,000; Britain, 1,170,000; Italy, 800,000; Russia, 775,000; Austria, 706,000; Poland, 320,000; Czechoslovakia, 236,000; Australia 164,000; Rumania, 100,000; Belgium, 80,000; Canada, 45,000; New Zealand, 20,000; Finland, 10,000. The world war pensioners of the United States are placed at 167,000.

These dependent soldiers are sufficiently scattered to be a world argument for peace; at least, they are eloquently destructive of any theory that war is finite and can be bounded by the number of days it occupies. No man yet has been able to state the real cost of war. If anyone could, and did, the total would break the heart of civilization.

Dr. Clifford C. Robinson

YOUR HEALTH

There is a well defined relation between mouth breathing and affliction of the nasal sinuses. Other parts of the respiratory system suffers even more. The conditions of the nose and throat involving adenoid growth, obstruction and deformities of the septum as well as mucous polyps, cause mouth breathing.

These abnormal growths must be corrected in early life, or permanent loss in the normal development of the inner nose will result through lack of use. Mouth breathing will often result in jaw and teeth displacement. It also causes facial deformities such as dilated eyes, lack of expression, open or hanging mouth and deformed jaw.

Many people are half-mouth breathers and are not aware of the fact. In early life, through some illness which impaired their breathing, they contracted this habit.

The early defects were never corrected and, as a consequence, their breathing capacity through the nasal passages has remained impaired. In many cases their air volume is only that of a small child. A health examination by a competent physician, at least once a year, would have brought about great relief to the patient.

Temporary mouth breathing may result from severe colds or other nasal disturbances by nasal occlusion. The mucous membrane and results in almost complete stoppage of the nostrils.

Mouth breathing invites the germs of influenza, pneumonia and tuberculosis. If you are subject to its trouble, try and have it remedied at once. It may change your whole life.

CHARGES AGAINST ONE BERGDOLL ARE DROPPED
 (By The Associated Press.)
 PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 23.—Conspiracy and draft evading charges against Edwin R. Bergdoll, brother of Grover C. Bergdoll, notorious arms dealer who died in Germany, were dropped by the government today.
 Federal Judge Dickinson permitted the public hearing of the charges in a request of Assistant United States Attorney Robert H. Baker, who has had charge of the case since Edwin's release on parole from Leavenworth prison. Mr. Baker explained that the army department charges on which Edwin was sentenced to four years by a military court were virtually the same as those in the indictment pending here against him. He recommended to the department of justice that the civil charges against Edwin be dropped and the note process be with the sanction of the Washington authorities.
 Charges against Grover Bergdoll, co-conspirator and draft evader, however, are still in effect.

DRAKES BRANCH, October 31.—(Grouping Wireless.)—Hallowe'en! Tonight's the night! Boys will be boys when the lollypop parade moves up and down Main street. After supper the masqueraders will take the sidewalks while autos form close order procession in the streets. If you don't like the noise you'd better not venture out. Old Fogie.

Read what Irvin Cobb, the handsomest man in the movies, says of the Hallowe'en of his boyhood days in Dixie:

"When I was a boy, Hallowe'en was an important institution. We lived in a small city and the kids in our 'gang' thought up enough deviltry to drive the grown-ups to distraction."

"There was one old fellow who finally gave up trying to save himself from annoyance. He was a junk dealer and, he had a disreputable horse and a shabby old wagon. We had dragged that wagon several blocks to a canal and dumped it into the water."

"At first he protested to our folks, threatened to have the law on us; but finally he gave up and, automatically, each morning after Hallowe'en, you'd see him leading the horse over to the canal to retrieve the wagon. He never even looked in the wagon shed to see if it was there. And I think he'd have felt neglected if we had failed to play our annual trick on him."

It must be fine to have a yacht. And twin-six limousines. A handsome house on a corner lot and a million in one's jeans. These things are blessings, as I've said. And greatly prized, it's true. But still I'd rather have instead One good old friend like you.

A Non-Union Bricklayer.

A mechanical bricklayer has been invented by a Scotchman. Very probably the device sprang full-grown from the heat of his imagination over the performance of the every-day sort of bricklayer. With a mortar tank, a hopper, brick and a motor, the new machine is said to lay its course of brick, come back, break joints, and even "top" each brick to settle it in the mortar.

In short, the machine is very paragon in technique. Besides, it has amazing capacity for work. It makes such speed that three men have all they can do to keep it full of new bricks and fresh mortar. It is described as laying 200 to 1500 bricks an hour or 10,000 a day if it sticks to the ordinary bricklayer's day.

COSTLY

The cost of government in our big cities needs some tall thinking by taxpayers. For the cost of running Chicago is $47.50 a year for every man, woman and child in the city.

That's practically $5 a month apiece—$25 a month for a family with three children.

The average Chicagoan must often wonder if it's worth it.

A doctor tells us that autopsies reveal four people out of five have had a struggle with tuberculosis at some time or other during their life. This is shown by scars in the lungs, indicating that the dread disease had been overcome by the body's power of resistance.

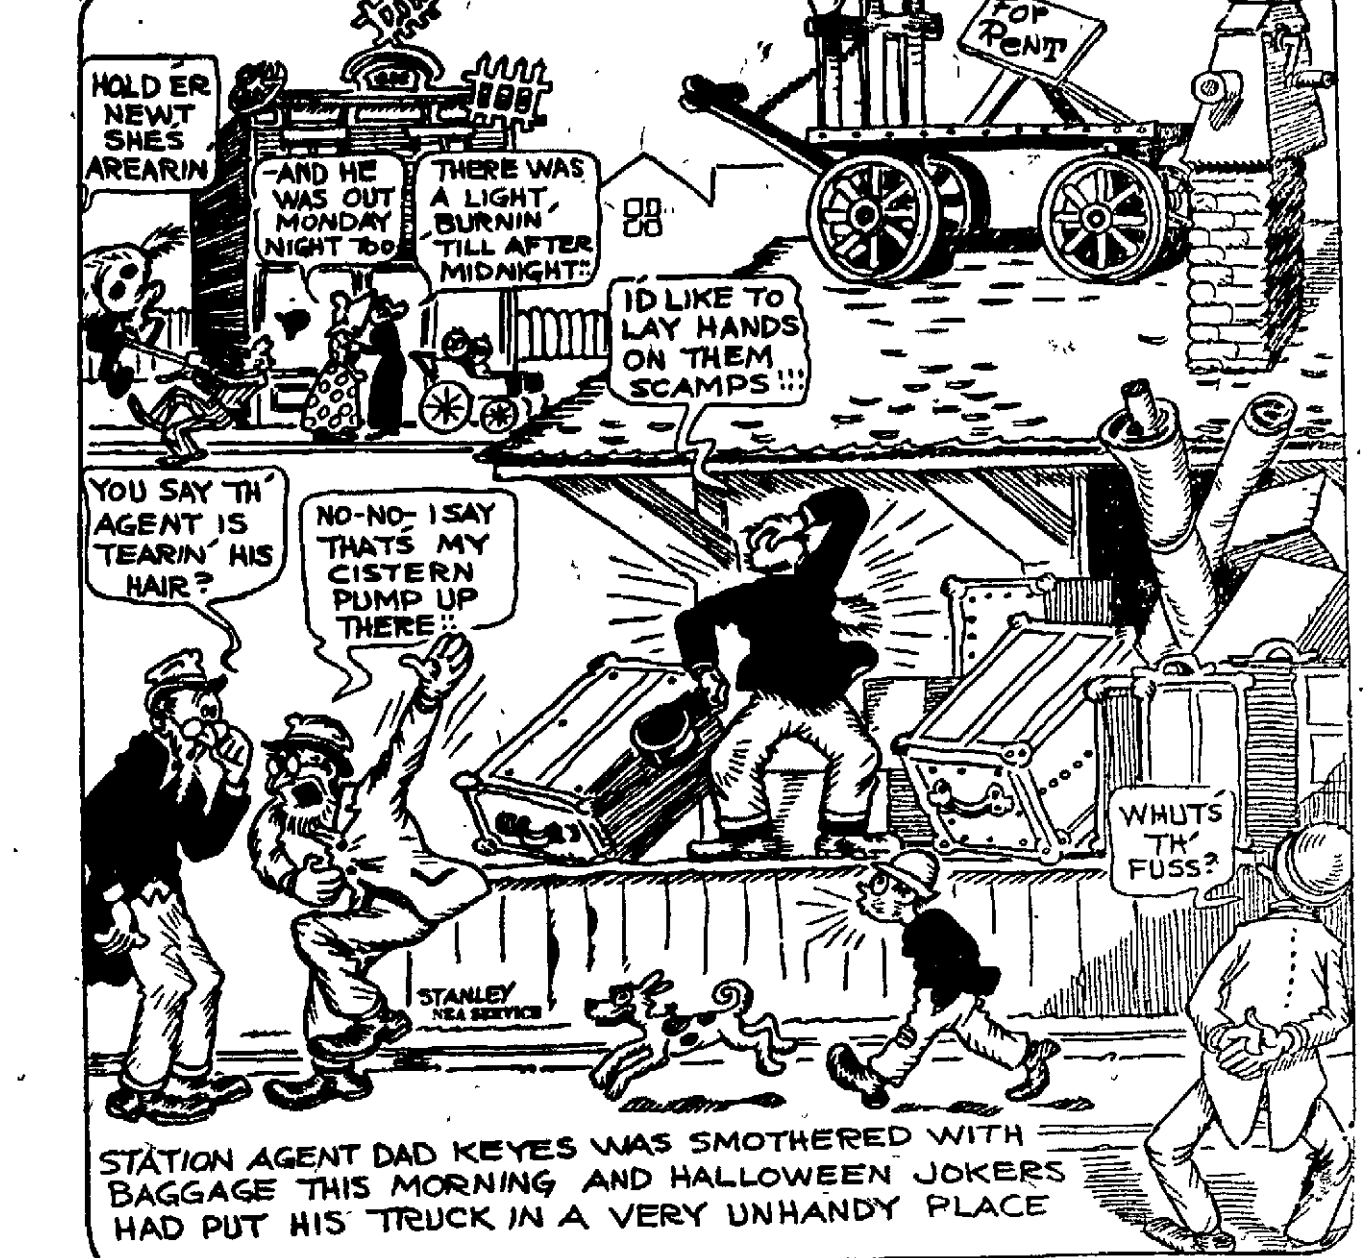

Keep the general health in good shape and there aren't many diseases that a person need worry about. Exercise to bad weather, "rain, overwork, lack of sleep and overeating"—these are the chief things that lower the body's power of resistance.

RECORDS

In California they dig up skeletons of gorilla-like men who are believed to have lived long before the Indians. Unfortunately, they left no written records.

Things are different when scientists thousands of years from now excavate the ruins of our civilization. They'll probably decide that we left too many records instead of enough. The International Peace says a sheet 200 miles long would be required for all the books and documents needed to make the history of the World War complete.

DEMSEY'S PROFITS GIVEN

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 30.—Jack Dempsey's profits from his bout with Luis Angel Firpo have given him and his manager, Jack Kearns, full title to a large apartment house according to an announcement today from a bond house that handled the deal. The fighter and his manager bought the property early this year subject to a bond issue. With the proceeds of the fight, Dempsey called in all outstanding bonds, amounting to $100,000.

FASHION

Dame Fashion wields a tremendous power, and in the background one business gains while another loses. Twenty thousand gingham looms are idle in the New England states. King Tut's influence, reaching out over the centuries, paralyzed gingham sales. Times will bring the gingham back.

Meantime you reflect what a pitiful thing it is, that mighty King Tut's only influence on the world today is a brief change of fashion. So passes the glory of the world.

LAUGHS
 Why are women so seldom "the goat" in funny pictures and cartoons? Captain Bruce Bairnsfather, comic artist, comments: "You can't get a woman into as many farcical situations, you can't get a woman to do the many things you can get a man to do, and the recent emergence of her sex on an alleged equality with man makes very little difference."

I wonder whether intelligence or instinctive caution is responsible for women avoiding injurious situations more than men.

 The cigar's one hundred and twenty-fifth birthday will be celebrated Jan. 25. It was invented in 1799 by some unknown genius in Connecticut. Before then, men smoked only pipes.

The inventor didn't know what he was starting. There's no way of estimating, but tobacco smoke and nicotine have had a decided effect on civilization in the three centuries that have elapsed since Sir Walter Raleigh introduced tobacco to Europe from America.

CHILDREN IN ALASKA TO VIEW FIREWORKS

(By The Associated Press.)
 FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Oct. 30.—As a result of the unseasonably warm weather in Alaska is experiencing, citizens of this city tomorrow night will see their first fireworks displayed in 21 years. The exhibition was arranged by a local newspaper so children could see how their fellows in lower latitudes celebrate the national birthday. Fireworks displays here on July fourth are impossible on account of the 24 hours of day light at that season.

"THE FOOL"

BY CHANNING FOLLOCK

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Dilly Gilliam, her mother, Mrs. Gilliam, with Lella Thornbury a divorcee, are trimming a Christmas tree in the Church of the Nativity, a fashionable church of New York. Mrs. J. Orson Tice, society leader, Jerry's proper marriage to Clara, a man-about-town, who is interested in Clara Jewett, engaged to the Reverend Daniel Gilchrist, the assistant rector of the church, in bad favor because of his radical sermons.

Dr. Wadham, the rector, drops in to attend a meeting of the wardens. Jerry's proper marriage to Clara, Clara breaks her engagement with Daniel. Clara marries Jerry for his money.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
 Somehow her marriage to Jerry Goodkind had not served its purpose. True, it had shut the door to Gilchrist, but it had opened her within four walls while it left him the rest of the world. But the fence was built and there was no tearing it down.

As her isolation bred restlessness Clara sought diversion.

This night, her husband, a non-observant Jerry, was back from a business trip to the coal fields and his return had been excuse enough for a dinner party.

An austere servant summoned George F. Goodkind from the music room. Away from the glare of jazz and gaiety, he looked at the proffered card. Stepping to the glass-paneled door he summoned Charlie Benfield to the library. Benfield's eyebrows arched inquisitively as he read the card.

"Labor conciliators," he repeated. "What the—"

"Mostly thugs," answered Goodkind. "When you've been in the mining game a while longer, you'll know. We've got $1,000,000 worth of them handling this strike."

"Police duty?" queried Benfield. "No. Spies and agents provocateur. I hate the breed, but what are you going to do about it? This fellow, Max Stedman, is a smart one. He got into the union five or six years ago—and now he's one of the delegation they've sent up to me. Pretty handy, eh? Where's Jerry."

"I gave him the high sign. Why didn't you go down to West Virginia?"

"What do I know about coal mining?"

"You're president of the company."

Goodkind laughed. "That means digging up money—not coal. I've never set foot in West Virginia and I don't want to. I sent Jerry. He has a dozen qualifications and no scruples. And I sent Gilchrist."

"Who has scruples and no qualifications?" put in Benfield. "Thus striking a balance, I mean that. Don't make any mistake about Gilchrist. He's valuable. I didn't fire him because I was sorry he got fired out of the church—and only a little because I knew his father. I hired him because he has theories and I wanted to try them out."

"I'll say he's got theories," Benfield commented sarcastically. "Yes—and the remarkable part of it is that sometimes they work. They worked at that power plant in Canada. A year ago I wouldn't have taken it as a gift. Gilchrist applied a little soft soap."

"Or was it gold dust?"

"Well, both, damn it. Charlie, with all the increased wages and decreased working hours the plant's making money now for the first time."

Jerry had joined them now, a little sulken from a mixture of brandy and resentment.

"There's something in Gilchrist," the older Goodkind continued with a quiet earnestness. "Mostly bugs," said Jerry grimly.

will see their first fireworks displayed in 21 years. The exhibition was arranged by a local newspaper so children could see how their fellows in lower latitudes celebrate the national birthday. Fireworks displays here on July fourth are impossible on account of the 24 hours of day light at that season.

War threatened in Philippines

This may be why Philippine prize-fighters are coming to America.

Coal can't stay up forever. It will be down in six months.

A foolish man seeks the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow while a wise man enjoys the rainbow.

A very successful way of making a husband stay home at night is to stay there with him.

The days are so much shorter. Just after supper it is dark enough to wear a dirty collar to town.

We can't understand how such beautiful complexions come out of such sloppy vanity cases.

Hitting the ground is much easier than hitting a golf ball because the ground is so much larger.

Shaving every morning is bad, but not too bad. Count the money you save by doing it yourself.

Trouble with laying something aside for a damp day is you are always coming to a little dew.

True sportsmen will not kill more than the law's allowance of game and others will not either.

While riches do not bring us happiness they do bring us coal.

"Not when it isn't necessary," put in Benfield.

"And Gilchrist wired yesterday 'Everything settled'."

"On conditions," added Jerry doubtfully.

"Yeh—on their conditions," Stedman was warming up now. "This Gilchrist has double-crossed you. He's been at their own meetings. He got 'em to send this delegation and he tried to get 'em to turn down Hennig, our one best bet. Take it from me—"

"I won't take it from you or anybody else," interrupted Goodkind impatiently. "I know this man."

"Well, he's gone around talking compromise," Stedman was cowed a bit, but not subdued. "Compromise isn't no way to settle a strike. He's giving 'em confidence. Why, we got a couple hundred of our guys down there tellin' 'em they ain't got a chance to win. That's the system. We got special police clubbin' 'em every time they try to hold a meeting. You wouldn't believe what we done down there in the way of harmony."

"All been done before," put in Goodkind.

"Never no complete," boasted Stedman. "We're workin' the black list and if a guy opens his mouth too wide somebody—he don't know who—tips the government he's a Red. We got 'em so they kin't sure of their own brothers. He's poisonin' 'em with his tongue."

"You should workmen mistrust the company? This is the land of opportunity. America is calling you. Go back to work."

He drew closer in eagerness and went on.

"The boss has a scheme now to start a riot between the Poles and the Wops. And you know the end of that. Troops and scabs and machine guns. What stopped it? One gang that don't know nothin' about harmony—or nothin' besides hangin' around after a skirt. If you got to use bribery now, don't blame me, blame Gilchrist."

Benfield banged the table with his fist.

"He's absolutely right," he shouted, emphatically. "He's right." Jerry agreed, sullenly. "What did you expect of a man kicked out of his church for Bolshevism?"

"He ought to be brought back right now," pursued Benfield. "He's coming back—A servant interrupted. "Yes, what is it?"

"Two men to see Mr. Stedman," he said.

"Bring them in," said Goodkind. Stedman's nervousness increased. "Now look—" he said quietly, but excitedly. "don't try nothin' but Umanski. Just give us an excuse to vote right, and then we'll go out and shake him and I'll come back with Hennig. Now then—"

His whole bearing changed. He drew himself up into a pose that was hypocritical itself. When the two stocky, swarthy figures entered he was saying to the trio in evening clothes:

"It's very good of you gentlemen to see us. I was going to meet my friends outside—but you been so kind and agreeable—Oh, here they are now—Hello, Joe."

CHAPTER IX
 Umanski

THE contrast of the men arrayed against each other was easily discerned in the manner in which they stood out from their background—the luxurious, pretentious library of a man of wealth and taste.

The three carefully-groomed men in evening clothes blended as harmoniously into this setting as the stately, costly furnishings themselves. The other three cast harsh, sharp-lined shadows against this opulence.

"Hello, Max," said Hennig, returning Stedman's greeting. Obviously the surroundings disturbed him as much as he did them. He was nervous and he fumbled with his black felt hat, circling its rim with obsessive fingers.

No Nut Cracker

by Joe Williams

Bull kills matador same day 132 to 1 shot wins. Thus proving that Kid Miracle still tells a punch.

The world does move on after all Sport writers no longer refer to Willie Hoppe as the boy wonder.

Joe Miller used to furnish all the jokes for the world. But that was before the New York Boxing Commission started to make champions.

The festive holdout was the first separatist. He figured out a way to separate the magnates from their Jack.

Sister says he intends to educate the Browns. You can lead a ball player to a classroom but you can't make him think.

Siki's manager might make a little money by subjecting his man to the redhibition process.

Notre Dame players practice in moonlight. Does this explain how they always manage to knock the daylights out of the other guys?

Fred Fulton will never be what you might call an upstanding man in the community, as long as he's got that glass jaw.

Ty Cobb has made 3454 hits. Being but 18 behind George M. Cohan.

"In the lexicon of Bill Bryan there's no such word as put—Col. Hickory Knutt.

"Iliteracy grows in America." Which accounts, no doubt, for the increased popularity of the six-day bike races.

The little world series is now over and the players can rest up a few days before starting for the spring training camp.

SNAKES POSITIVELY HAVE NO HIPS, SAYS REPTILE FANCIER

LESTER A. PIERCE AND SOME OF HIS "PLAYMATES"

By NEA Service.
TOLEDO, Ohio, Oct. 31.—Every morning when Lester A. Pierce here sets up, he sees snakes.

Crawling all about his bedroom, 50 or more of the varminis entwine themselves in loving embrace on the furniture, waiting meekly for their breakfasts.

From this it isn't to be inferred that Pierce is the victim of hallucinations.

The reptiles are real and in the flesh (if it's proper to suppose that snakes have flesh).

However, they positively don't have hips despite the fact that so many folks are wont to refer to such reptilian anatomy when elated.

You can take that as gospel from this courageous young man who's educational director of the Toledo Boy Scouts.

Gathering snakes has been Pierce's hobby for years. And with a flock of them crawling about his room at night he never once has missed a wing of slumber.

One day at a church luncheon he surprised attendants by unveiling a six-foot blue racer which he had coiled inside his coat, and playfully dropped the squirming length of sinew around the neck of the flabberfaced minister.

Most things said about the dangerous qualities of snakes are untrue, Pierce says. "There are only a comparatively few poisonous reptiles in the world."

In his collection are black snakes, fox snakes, blue racers, water snakes, garter snakes and others of whom he is very fond.

Zev To Be Given Final Tryout Today

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—As a final preparation for his race for which My Own next Saturday, Zev international three-year-old champion will start in the Autumn Championship at the Empire track today. Giving an added attraction to the last day's racing of the season in this state.

In his publicist's coming on the eve of his meeting with Admiral Cary T. Grayson's popular three-year-old the Latonia championship stakes of $50,000, Zev is expected to draw the largest attendance of the meet at Empire City.

On handicap figures, Zev at 120 pounds, scheduled to meet his opponents at scale weight, apparently has a walk away for the $5,000 added stake.

DAN IV EASILY WON FEATURE

(By The Associated Press.)
PIMPLICO RACE TRACK, BALTIMORE, Oct. 30.—J. S. Cadden's Dan IV easily won the $10,000 today Memorial steeplechase, big feature of the opening day of the fall race meeting at Old Hill Top.

W. G. Wilson's Lieutenant Seas was second, the Greentree Stables Letterman, third, and Quincy Stables Double Top, fourth.

The time for the two and one half mile was 4:53 4-5.

It was a fine race through the field. Musty and Dan IV started out to make the pace and in this way they ran the first two turns of the field. Duettiste and Lieutenant Seas were close up and on the back stretch the last time around, Lieutenant Seas challenged. The battle began turning for home. Musty broke down but Dan IV, standing off Lieutenant Seas, challenged and came up to win handily going to the last jump, Duettiste, which had gotten up to second position, fell and Lieutenant Seas came on to get the place from Letterman who closed for it at the end. Damask and Red Clover fell.

KING COLLEGE RUNS UP SCORE ON SMALL TEAM

(By The Associated Press.)
PRINCETON, Va., Oct. 30.—The King College team, having gained strength for its game Saturday with Michigan, romped away with East Tennessee Normal School here this afternoon by the score of 104 to 0.

The King junior varsity played most of the game while the first string men were seated for the Michigan contest here the latter part of the week. Total points scored by King in its five games this season now numbers 242.

Sharpe, Osburn, Orr and Allen, King star backs, were in today's game long enough to limber up and scored almost at will. Normal made only two first downs.

Western Slope Laurels Expected To Change Hands

By LAWRENCE PERRY
(Copyright, 1928, by The Bee)
NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Is the Pacific coast conference crown going to be worn somewhere up in the Pacific Northwest this season?

Games thus far played among the teams of the western slope make it seem likely that after three years of supremacy, the University of California eleven stands something more than a chance of losing her laurels.

Right now the University of Washington looms as the strongest contender and unless Andy Smith, the coach of the Goldiggers is able to develop a resourceful quarterback to direct the attack, the Northern huskies may knock askew the Bears hope of a fourth consecutive championship.

The University of Washington should not be confused with Washington State College, a team defeated by California 9 to 0 at Portland on Saturday. The State collegians had already been beaten by Gonzaga and finish high in the conference race.

California and Standard look to be evenly matched. The Palo Altans have defeated St. Mary's and Santa Clara by larger scores than the Bears made against the same teams.

Standard is below the form of the University of Washington was made clear thru Standard's downfall 14-7 at the hands of Southern California on Saturday. Washington the previous week humbled the Southerners 22 to 0.

To date Blewett's drop and place kicking for goals has been the outstanding feature of California's game but he did not get much of a chance against Washington State. In fact the Bear's touchdown came thru a costly fumble by State in the last few minutes of play. Smith, however, is credited with holding back some of his best stuff.

Of all futile, foolish things an attempt at this time of the year to rate teams on the basis of whether or not they have been defeated, is the worst. If all eleven met the same opponents something definite might be worked out. But they don't. For instance, Princeton, Georgia Tech and the Army have been beaten by Notre Dame.

How many other teams unbeaten to date, would have a clean slate had they met this brilliant South Bend outfit.

On the other hand, as a matter of mid-season record, a list of teams yet unbeaten either because of great strength or because they have yet to meet powerful opponents is always of interest to football enthusiasts.

However, small the real significance here then is the line up of leading teams with unblemished escutcheons.

East-Cornell, Yale, Dartmouth, Washington and Jefferson, Syracuse Tufts, Penn State, West Virginia and Rutgers have not been beaten but have been tied.

Middle West-Notre Dame, Illinois Chicago and Michigan Wisconsin and Minnesota have not been beaten but have been tied.

South Virginia Military Institute King College and Sewanee.

Far West-California, University of Washington and Idaho.

Pat Dawson of Beloit is a real drop kicker. Against Northwestern he sent out drop kicks over the bar from about the forty yard mark. Against other teams, his toe has been deadly. How did he do it? Well it is an interesting story.

As a lad Dawson was devoted to football fiction and he came to the conclusion that most heroes of the gridiron kicked field goals from the fifty yard line with but a few seconds to play thereby winning the game. So thru his grammar and high school, days Dawson did little but practice drop kicking. Today a junior at Beloit he is a sure fire artist, according to the coach, Tom Mills, who used to play for Wisconsin in the days when a certain field goal artist was creating havoc in the conference.

CHAMPIONS MUST DEFEND TITLES

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Boxing champions must defend their titles in bantamweight championship bouts at least once every six months, under a new championship ruling adopted today by the New York State Athletic Commission.

Failure to do so will result in indefinite suspension for the champion and possibly the forfeiture of his title, while any boxer who engages a suspended champion, in New York or elsewhere, will suffer, in turn, indefinite suspension or the refusal of a license to box in New York.

By adopting this rule, the commission did away with its custom of arbitrarily declaring forfeited the titles of champions who refused to accept challenges and, in most cases, elevating challengers to the championship.

U. S. Contestants In Billiard Match Gain Victory

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—The three American contestants in the world 18.2 ball line billiard championship tournament swept through the first three matches with out a defeat, each American gaining victory at the expense of an invader from Europe.

Today, however, will bring defeat to one American in the Hoppe-Cochran match this evening and a victory will be gained by one of the invaders in the Hagelacher-Conti contest this afternoon.

Walter Cochran, of San Francisco, played good billiards yesterday when he turned back Roger Conti of France 500 to 457 after a hard struggle. Both players were brilliant at times but neither could sustain such brilliancy.

Jake Schaefer, of Chicago, last night won the slowest game played in the history of 18.2 ball line championship tournaments when he defeated Edouard Horemans of Belgium 500 to 451. The 18 inning, 444 four hours and five minute match. The Belgian took the lead in the second inning and held it until the eleventh Horemans became nervous and Schaefer had passed him and threatened only once thereafter.

The play has been brilliant only spots thus far and all the games have been exceptionally slow. Neither Hoppe nor Schaefer has played impressive billiards in their victories over Hagelacher and Horemans.

SCHAEFFER WINS GAME

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Jake Schaefer of San Francisco, won the slowest played game in the history of 18.2 ball line championship history tonight, from Edouard Horemans, of Belgium, 500 points to 451.

Cheap Electrical Power Liberates Idaho Farmers To Happy Lives

By HARRY B. HUNT
WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—The problem of "how to keep 'em down the farm" has been solved on the Minidoka reclamation project in southern Idaho, according to Benjamin F. Spittler, owner of one of the prize ranches there.

Less than 20 years ago—16 years, in fact—the whole Minidoka territory was a dreary desert of greasewood and sagebrush. Today it is one of the most productive and prosperous agricultural areas in the country.

But putting water on the land, primary object of the irrigation development, has not been fully responsible for the ideal condition now existing. The thing that keeps Minidoka women happy and the boys satisfied, is the bringing of cheap electricity to the farms.

Electric current developed at the Minidoka power house, above that needed for pumps for irrigation, is sold by the government to the project community at a rate averaging slightly over one-half of one cent per kilowatt hour. Eventually, the farmers will own the plant. The municipal or co-operative organizations distributing the current deliver it to the home or the ranch at a charge of three to five cents per kilowatt hour for the first 150 kilowatt hours and for one cent per kilowatt hour for all over 150 kilowatt hours per month.

The average cost is under two cents. The average city dweller pays from eight to twelve cents per kilowatt hour for his current. The average farmer often cannot have it a tan, then, is the special boom of the Minidoka resident.

What has this meant in the way of his advantage and development? Through the co-operative factor introduced by community distribution of electricity and the necessity of pulling together in the operation of the canal systems, the residents are brought together frequently in a business way. Social development comes too. They become more than mere tillers of the land. Their vision broadens.

All Are Content
"We have had to develop leadership and take hold of business affairs with which the average farmer rarely has any concern," says Spittler. "This experience has pushed us into many lines of co-operation. In addition to the 25 mutual electric companies on the project, distributing electricity to more than 1,200 farmers, and owned and managed by farmers, we have co-operative cheese factories, cold storage plants, dairy and hog associations and numerous other organizations."

"We have developed the best school system in the state. The children of the farm and town are being schooled together and we believe this results in keeping the farmers' boys and girls on the land after they grow up. The country children are taken to school in auto busses and returned to their homes at night."

"We have completely done away with the chief bane of the country—solitude, loneliness and drudgery. Country life as we live it on the Minidoka project is all-sufficient—therefore satisfying."

PAY-AS-YOU-GO FINANCES ANALYZED BY STATE AUDITOR

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 30.—The advocates of a road bond issue have frequently stated that only about $5,000,000 would be available for road construction next year under the pay-as-you-go plan.

C. Lee Moore, Auditor of Public Accounts, has just announced the following funds for the fiscal year ending October 1, 1934. All of the estimates of revenue of the State of Virginia are based upon the fiscal year.

FOR CONSTRUCTION OF STATE HIGHWAY SYSTEM
Balance in hand of Federal Government, Oct. 1, 1933	$ 4,093,694.03
State tax, 10c on property already assessed to be paid into the State Treasury Dec. 15, 1933	1,700,000.00
Contribution by U. S. Government to be allowed July 1, 1934	1,262,430.00
Renewal of direct appropriation from the State Treasury to be made by General Assembly, Oct. 1, 1933, to the credit of State Highway System for construction	1,075,000.00
Balance in Treasury of Virginia, Oct. 1, 1933, to the credit of State Highway System for construction	1,075,111.17
2c gas tax estimated for fiscal year ending Oct. 1, 1934	1,900,000.00

Total Construction Funds Exclusive of Robertson Act Loans	$10,587,235.20
Robertson Act funds un-expended on Oct. 1, 1933	4,326,243.47
Total for Construction of State Highway System for Fiscal Year Ending October 1, 1934	$14,913,478.67

FOR MAINTENANCE STATE HIGHWAY SYSTEM
Automobile license tax received	3,500,000.00
Balance of Maintenance Fund in hand Oct. 1, 1933	362,865.92
TOTAL	$ 3,862,865.92
Total for State System	$18,776,344.59

(The total for maintenance above given is in excess of the actual cost of maintenance of the State Highway System. By the allowance of $500 per mile annually for every mile of road embraced in the State System, maintenance will be approximately $2,200,000, leaving a substantial surplus to be added to the construction fund, if so determined by the General Assembly. The appropriation of $550,000 does not include the item of $250,000 for administration of the State Highway Department.)

FOR FARM TO MARKET ROADS
Renewal of present appropriation	$ 700,000.00
Estimate of 1c gas tax	350,000.00
Balance to the credit of State Aid to County Roads	322,565.21
TOTAL	$ 1,372,565.21
Grand Total for Fiscal Year Ending Oct. 1, 1934	$20,748,909.80

All of the above fund has been already provided except the renewal of the appropriation of $550,000 for the State System and the appropriation of $700,000 for the farm-to-market roads.

By the estimates of Auditor Moore there will be available for construction and maintenance of the State Highway System and the construction of farm-to-market roads under the supervision of the State Highway System, a grand total of $20,748,909.80 for the fiscal year ending Oct. 1, 1934.

The above is the official estimate of the chief bookkeeper of Virginia and refutes the statement so frequently made that under the pay-as-you-go plan not more than $5,000,000 will be available for construction of the State Highway System for the next year.

Baldheads Herald Dawn Of U. S. Renaissance, Says Galli-Curci

MME. AMELITA GALLI-CURCI.

By ROY J. GIBBONS

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 31.—Pity not, nor scorn the much-maligned genus constituting first-nighters in the bald-headed row.

In the prophetic words of Mme. Amelita Galli-Curci, appearing in concert tour here, these sometimes frowned-upon individuals are nothing less than "new type" artists trying to express themselves.

Accompanied by Homer Samuels, her accompanist-husband, the famous diva, in no uncertain terms and with many emphatic shrugs of her vixen shoulders, let it be known that a renaissance of culture and art has started to dawn upon America.

Our business men, she says, have been afflicted by irrefutable European paintings.

Maligned Indeed! They are not the phlegmatic creatures so commonly imagined abroad. Indeed, no! They are but artists desiring themselves.

"Here in America," she said, indicating the four compass points, "you have industrial imagination. Look over this city and at its myriad changes, dedicated to Yankee thought and progress."

"What do they signify, if not symbols of romantic ingenuity born of vision? And beyond the horizon, over millions of cultivated acres, the same sight greets the eyes."

"Tell you it is beautiful! A race capable of such, is artistic to its very core."

"Revelers of so powerful a conquest."

Dr. Senter Given Farewell By His Hill City Friends

At a luncheon of the Ministerial Union of Lynchburg on Monday, the occasion was featured by handsome appreciation of the Methodist pastors of that city who were taking leave of their clerical brethren there by reason of transfers under the Methodist itinerant system to other fields of labor. The four pastors who will relinquish work in Lynchburg made appropriate and feeling responses.

Speaking of the Rev. Samuel T. Senter, pastor of the Court Street church who will come to Danville to take the Mount Vernon pastorate, the Lynchburg News says and then quotes Dr. Senter as follows: "Dr. S. T. Senter, of Court street, told the former line in the Methodist church preventing a pastor from remaining more than four years in one charge and gave the influence of this rule still existing in their common conversation on the streets and when the 'Man of Galilee' was the most popular man walking the streets of Lynchburg. I want to say that the movement here has done me infinitely more good than I have ever been able to contribute to it."

Describing the Methodist church as a militant organization, he declared that when an order was given there was nothing to do but salute and go forward and that he was trying to do this. Like the draft during the war who was asked where he was going, Dr. Senter declared, "I ain't gwine, I've been sent."

I have spent the best charge of my career here, and I am indeed thankful to have been here during a period of unusual development—a time when religion became a subject of common conversation on the streets and when the 'Man of Galilee' was the most popular man walking the streets of Lynchburg. I want to say that the movement here has done me infinitely more good than I have ever been able to contribute to it."

Dr. Senter concluded Dr. Senter, "that I have spent the best charge of my career here, and I am indeed thankful to have been here during a period of unusual development—a time when religion became a subject of common conversation on the streets and when the 'Man of Galilee' was the most popular man walking the streets of Lynchburg. ## NEW TELEPHONE DIRECTORY WILL BE CLASSIFIED

Danville's forthcoming telephone directory, which will go to press on November 5th, 1933, will have an innovation that will put it in a class with the telephone directories of Baltimore, Washington, Richmond and other large cities. This improvement will be a classified section, according to announcement of Manager H. O. Evans.

In this classified section will be grouped the names of the business firms, industries and professional men of the city. All of the grocery firms, plumbers, lawyers and doctors, just to mention a few of the classifications, will be found under appropriate headings in the classified section.

Manager Evans said that the section would be found of great value to users of the telephone as they could turn to the classified pages in the back of the directory to be issued by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company and find all of the business firms listed. The pages of the new section will be yellow and they will be easy to locate.

Representatives of the company are now in Danville assisting Manager Evans in compiling the classified portion of the new directory and securing contracts for advertising space. Mr. Evans said today that many requests had been made for a classified section and that the new feature was certain to be extensively used and meet with general favor.

AT THE MAJESTIC. Joseph M. Gaites Himself Will Appear Here in "The Monster." November 1st.

"The Monster"—that huge laugh and thrill exciter that has been awarded the crown among the host of exciting spoken mystery plays presented recently in the theatre is coming to the Majestic Theatre tomorrow night in all the glory of its original New York production and cast headed by Crane Wilbur and Suzanne Caubet. Being the author of this astounding performance, as one of the featured players, Mr. Wilbur interprets his experience. However, having won first fame as an actor on the stage and in the movies, this author was equipped and qualified to accept the assignment when urged by the play's producer, Joseph M. Gaites, to do so.

New York, Boston, Chicago and Philadelphia have seen and raved over the laughs and thrills of "The Monster" for such a long time that its first general road tour has been delayed until this fall. That it has a surfeit of promise of enjoyable theatrical entertainment for all those who like fun and excitement in the theatre when it is presented in class style is convincingly attested by its record.

Suzanne Caubet, the other featured member of the cast, is the part of the heroine, has been highly praised for her youthful beauty and intelligence in acting. She has the distinction of being a piece of the late famous French actress Mme. Sarah Bernhardt under whose personal instruction she entered her stage career and with whom she appeared on the stage here and in Europe.

Prices 50c to $2.50. Seat sale now.

PROCESS TO MAKE TOUGH MEAT TENDER REGARDED UNDESIRABLE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Use of papaya leaves or a powder to make from the dried fruit of the papaw to make tough meat tender, as is done in Southern climates, is not considered desirable by the Department of Agriculture, whose bureau of home economics has conducted a series of experiments in that line. Leaves crushed and wrapped around meat made it more tender but gave it a decided taste of the green and bitter juice of the leaves.

A solution of the powder applied to cuts of meat gave it a bitter taste, deprived it of its natural meat flavor and caused it to be dry. Leaves grown in the botanical gardens at Washington and others brought from Miami Fla., were used. They acted the same both the leaves and the powder contain an enzyme which digests protein.

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—Technical position of wheat suggests a rally but volume of business too small for rallies to go far. Reports of prospective importation of Canadian wheat are so numerous as to suggest a fairly sizeable addition to our supplies before the tariff can be heightened and our supplies of the present provide a problem in themselves.

Journal of Commerce says: Cotton condition sustains further sharp decline—rains delay picking, heavy deterioration in some counties, weevil and worms get all top crop, crop still backward, the Carolinas make better showing.

Mr. Jones says, "that he had suffered with Indigestion for some time, and he came in to our office and took one dose of Nanzetta's Prescription; and got permanent relief, so he came in again later and purchased a bottle and gave us the above testimony; and added, that getting such good results from one dose there is lots of pep in 1 bottle."
